

1 in Network Security Equipment by IDC

Overview

Tenable's #1 market share ranking in the IDC: " Worldwide Device Vulnerability and Exposure Management Market Shares, 2024 " (IDC #US53330526, August 2025) is a recognition of something we've believed all along: exposure management is the future of proactive security. IDC's Worldwide Quarterly Network Infrastructure Tracker[®] provides a quantitative view of key network infrastructure technologies.

Specifically, this tracker provides quarterly revenue based on IDC's research into the following markets: Ethernet switch, application delivery controller (ADC), ADC. IDC's Worldwide Security Spending Guide examines the security opportunity from a technology, industry, company size, and geography perspective. This comprehensive database delivered via IDC's Customer Insights Query Tool allows the user to easily extract meaningful information about the security. There has been a dramatic sea change by organizations worldwide recognizing the need for incident response (IR) services. Our placement also marks seven consecutive years at #1. IDC says that exposure management isn't just a new strategy. All or parts of the following sections are included in this excerpt: IDC Opinion, IDC MarketScape Vendor Inclusion Criteria, Essential Guidance, Vendor Summary Profile, Appendix and Learn More.

Transformation of connectivity will become table stakes for enterprises as. Network detections are a rich source of anomalies but are invaluable in that endpoint detection and response (EDR) require agents, and those agents can dissolve or otherwise be misconfigured. The IDC MarketScape on network detection and response will.
