

How much does it cost to replace a router's fiber optic cable

Overview

Fiber optic cable installation costs average $4,500 for most homeowners, with most installations ranging from $1,500 to $7,000. Replacing the wiring in your home costs an average of $1,375, though you may only need to rewire a small area at $2 to $4 per square foot. Single-mode fiber costs less per foot than multimode fiber, but it requires more. The cost to fix a fiber line often hinges on the fault type, distance, and response time, with price ranges reflecting differing crews and materials. Includes crew time for fault locating, splicing, and testing. The installation type you choose and the layout of your property determine the total labor and materials needed for your project. You should account for permit. Discover reliable fiber optic internet cables for home and office networks. Basic office needs 2-3 drops ($300-900).
